

Requirements for Consideration of Graduate Faculty Status in the Department of Art and Design

Along with the completed application, applicants must include:

- Evidence of Research, Creative, or other Scholarly Activities. See below for specifics.
Note that it is not sufficient to simply provide a listing of activities. Examples of required documentation include first page of article, title page of book, printed program or review of performance, proceedings from meetings showing date and citation. DO NOT SIMPLY INCLUDE A CV.

The applicant must meet one of the following criteria for Publications, Presentations or Ongoing Research, Creative, or Other Scholarly Activities.

A) Publications:

These require primary authorship or relevant co-authorship. If not yet in print, the faculty member may submit documented evidence of acceptance (i.e., in press).

Within the last five years the applicant must:

- have published a scholarly book requiring independent review; OR,
- have published two articles or essays in a peer-reviewed academic journal.

B) Presentations:

Presentations include the presentation of scholarly papers at professional meetings.

Within the last five years the applicant must:

- have presented scholarly conference papers to at least two international or national conferences or three regional conferences. The submitted activity must have been subject to external (off campus) review and be equivalent in contribution and rigor to the publication criteria defined above.

C) Creative Activities:

Exhibitions include juried and invitational exhibitions.

Within the last five years the applicant must:

- have exhibited artwork in at least two international/national solo/two person exhibitions or eight national/international group exhibitions or one international/national solo/two person exhibitions and four national/international group exhibitions. The submitted activity must have been subject to external (off campus) review and be equivalent in contribution and rigor to the publication criteria defined above.

D) Combinations:

Within the last five years the applicant must have a combination of presentations and papers and exhibitions:

- 1 peer-reviewed article or essay and 1 national/international conference
- 1 peer-reviewed article or essay and 2 regional conferences
- 1 peer reviewed article or essay and 1 solo/2 person national/international exhibition
- 1 national/international conference and 1 solo/2 person national/international exhibition
- 2 regional conferences and 1 solo/2 person national/international exhibition
- 1 peer reviewed article or essay and 4 national/international group exhibitions
- 1 national/international conference and 4 national/international group exhibitions
- 2 regional conferences and 4 national/international group exhibitions

Must be recommended by the Graduate Council and approved by the Dean, College of Graduate Studies.

These are minimum standards in assessing graduate faculty membership. Individual programs may apply different standards by vote of the faculty of the program as long as they are equivalent or more stringent and are approved by the Graduate Council and the Dean of the College of Graduate Studies.