Parking for the Fox Reading Conference

The Keathley University Center (KUC) is circled in pink (near the center of the map). The Dyslexia Center is circled in blue as a reference (no events at the Dyslexia Center for March 17). Key road names are circled in black. You can also find a map on MTSU’s website; that version is not highlighted for this event.

A few important notes:

• Visitor parking passes are not required on Saturday, March 17. Handicap spaces are in blue on the map, permits required.

• Parking lots are yellow and green on this map. Please note: SOME of these lots are closed or restricted on March 17! Red lots are restricted at all times.

• Faulkinberry Dr. and Normal Way will be closed to traffic due to the high school basketball championship games, which begin at 1:00 p.m. The Greenland lot is restricted for that event. The Nursing Lot, Reese Smith (Baseball) Lot, and the Middle Tenn. lot require a current MTSU parking permit.

• E. Main St. and Greenland Dr. are good entry points. Middle Tennessee Blvd. is open, but under construction (that’s the red hatch marks on the map)

• A Google map for Keathley University Center would be a good resource; it includes arrows indicating the one-way roads on campus.

• The Jones lot is the closest; the best way to get to the Jones lot is from Champion Way. Turn off Greenland Dr. onto Champion, take Champion until it ends, turn right. Note: The Jones Lot cannot accommodate everyone for this conference!

• Other close lots:
  - Davis Science Lot
  - Library Lot
  - Mass Comm Lot
  - Honors Lot

These can be reached from the E. Main St. / Rutherford Blvd. side of campus via Alumni Dr.
