The Forensic Institute for Research and Education presents a one-day workshop

Nonverbal Communications in a Forensic Setting

featuring Joe Navarro

Wed., Oct. 25, 9:00 a.m.–4:30 p.m.

Student Union Ballroom

Registration: $150. Register at csimtsu.com.

Expert Joe Navarro delivers the same training he has taught for the FBI and other members of the intelligence community. This workshop focuses on the forensic use of nonverbals in interviewing, due diligence, depositions, and security-related interviews.

Navarro will focus on understanding how the brain regulates behavior, how we assess others, and what the body reveals when it comes to thoughts, feelings, intentions, and fears. Emphasis will be placed on the latest model for detecting issues, concealed information, or possible leads, as well as deception. Navarro also will highlight what science reveals to us about nonverbals and how we can use that knowledge to assess, communicate, and conduct effective, ethical interviewing.

- Informative, practical, and immediately useful to both the student and the professional practitioner
- Applicable in the fields of medicine, psychology, law enforcement or national security/counter-terrorism work, and many others

ABMDI, Tennessee POST, and EMS approved. CEUs are available. Book signing to follow.
