2019–20 will be remembered as the Year of COVID-19. In the middle of the Spring 2020 semester, Jones College converted all in-person classes to online classes to combat the spread of coronavirus. The moratorium on in-person classes continued through Summer 2020. Although the changes caused us to work outside of our comfort zones, we continued to deliver all of our courses, and we conducted virtual Jones College graduation celebrations in May and August. We also surveyed our students to determine what virtual teaching methods worked best and offered additional training for faculty focused on those best practices. As a result, many of our faculty and staff have gained skills that enhance all of our educational programs.

Jones College continued to gain national recognition in 2019–20. The crowning achievement was a No. 1 national ranking for our Risk Management and Insurance program from A.M. Best, published in Best’s Review. For the first time, our Marketing program received a national ranking—No. 12 in the country from TopMarketingCompanies.com. Our graduate programs in Supply Chain Management and Finance earned additional rankings. Our Accounting program improved its ranking as a “Best Value” Accounting program. We again topped the $1 million mark in annual fundraising. Students, faculty, and alumni received local, regional, national, and even international recognition for their achievements, providing more evidence that our efforts toward “national prominence and regional dominance” are paying huge dividends!

Since 2015, over 3,500 students have received Dale Carnegie® training in human relations, communication, and other soft skills. This initiative is unique among major collegiate business schools, and the effect on our students has been transformational. Our Business and Economic Research Center and our MTSU Lead Center, part of the service centers’ network for the Tennessee Small Business Development Center, are making significant contributions to the Greater Nashville region’s economic development.

Looking ahead to 2020–21, we will have additional opportunities to shine. Our Information Systems program will undergo an initial accreditation review from ABET (Accrediting Board for Engineering and Technology), and we will have our next five-year Business and Accounting accreditation reviews from AACSB International. I am excited about the prospects for Jones College in the future, and I am proud to lead the effort toward continuous quality improvement. Go, Blue Raiders!
