Truth and Integrity – Essential for Ethical Leadership
Tom and Martha Boyd
Ethical Leadership Week
April 5-9, 2021
Coordinated by Leigh Anne Clark, Tolbert Faculty Fellow in Business Ethics

Truth and Integrity Class Speakers
The Jones College of Business challenges students to make ethical decisions by using the ETHICS criteria: empathy, truth and integrity, help more than harm, respect the individual rights of others, comply with existing laws/policies, and consider how the decision increases the value for all stakeholders.

Focusing on one criterion, local business leaders will share the importance of truth and Integrity in ethical decision-making with Jones College of Business students in virtual and face-to-face classes.

Building and Sharing the Authentic You
Mila Grigg, Live Virtual Keynote
Thursday, Apr. 8, 11:20 am via Zoom
Recorded for viewing/IGNITE credit the following week

Mila Grigg is a branding consultant and founder/CEO of Moda Image and Brand Consulting. She works with individuals and businesses “to share who they are, and why they do what they do, in a way that allows the public to see their unique individual and corporate value.”

She will challenge students to explore who they are, define their personal brand, and align that brand with their values and actions to achieve authenticity.

Teleparty to Watch/Discuss documentary Social Dilemma
Monday, Apr. 5, 6:00 pm via Teleparty
Students are invited to watch this documentary using the Teleparty App to explore decision-making by high-tech and social media companies through the lens of the JCB ETHICS criteria. Chat discussion facilitated by Leigh Anne Clark.

Mila Grigg, CEO of MODA Image and Brand Consulting, LLC, is passionate about brand, leadership and image.

MODA Image and Brand Consulting, LLC was born out of Mila’s passion to help others succeed by sharing what she has learned in the world of business, brand, sales and marketing. She too often saw people and organizations fail regardless of their potential because they were not focusing on what matters most; Brand Drives Everything. She is the leading individual and corporate brand, leadership, marketing and image coach. Her training series, Personal and Professional Brand, has served individuals and businesses of all types globally. No other company in America does what MODA Image and Brand Consulting does, and her company stands alone when it comes to Brand development, communication and implementation. She is the consultant to the consultants and believes that we build our value by helping others build theirs.

MODA Image and Brand Consulting helps individuals to communicate their Personal and Professional Brand, companies to discern and share the Corporate Brand with the world around them and management teams to develop strategies that give monetary value to their brand strengths. MODA helps individuals and companies to share WHO THEY ARE and what they do in a way that allows the public to see their unique individual and corporate value. MODA ensures that companies sell their products and increase their bottom line. We are the only company in the United States that is able to integrate corporate brand, social media strategy, personal brand, leadership, marketing, sales, image, internal and external communication, non-verbal communication, emotional intelligence, brand storytelling, the ‘why’ exercises, professional etiquette, executive presence and fashion into training seminars, 1:1 coaching and consulting agreements that benefit both the company and its employees.

Her career began in the insurance industry with a quick transition to the music industry; and then to a firm where she worked with athletes, entertainers, professionals and businesses in the area of brand and marketing. She has even spent a tremendous amount of time working in the ultimate branding sport of NASCAR and has worked with some of the top stars bringing together their corporate sponsorships.

As a business owner and someone who has worked in and up the leadership, image and brand business, Mila brings something of added value to every client she has, sharing her strong faith, hard work ethic, values, integrity, extensive relationships and business savvy with everyone she serves.
