II. Dr. Kaylene Gebert, Executive Vice President & Provost

Dr. Gebert welcomed everyone, thanked him or her for his or her participation on the committee, and noted the importance of the council to the entire graduate program. She hit upon several key issues that both the President's office and Academic Affairs are working towards, some of which are:

- Strong emphasis on Ph.D. programs – area of focus
- New programs at both the master's and Ph.D. levels to define our "niche" /specialty areas for distinction
- Graduate Assistant stipends and the need for an increase in those salaries in order to draw stronger students
- Program Reviews – really look at and examine closely – what can we do to strengthen our programs?

In conclusion, Dr. Gebert emphasized raising standards across the board, in our programs, our graduates, our assistants, and our faculty. Graduate Faculty should be a hallowed status, what does it mean? What are the expectations? How is it recommended? Chairs should establish a level of accountability. She would like to see the council involved in the review of programs and the "crunching of numbers" to meet our budget directives.

Dr. Gebert then entertained any questions the council members had and invited each member to feel free to talk with her individually at anytime either formally or informally. She again thanked the council for their efforts on behalf of the University.

C. Policies and Procedures
   Dr. David Foote, Chair

Dr. Foote reported that the Policies and Procedures Committee met on October 23, 2003, to discuss guidelines for the disbursement of funds for graduate faculty travel. Minutes of the meeting were passed out to the council and members were asked to review and send any input and/or suggestions to Dr. Foote. Dr. Berg felt strongly that the governing body for the funds should either be the same as or work closely with the sub-committee that disburses the funds for graduate student travel. Jackie Eller noted that Women’s Studies has a similar fund and she will send Dr. Foote a copy of their guidelines.
