Dr. Kevin E. Smith Professor, Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Dr. Kevin E. Smith is a nationally recognized anthropologist and international expert in the archeology of middle Tennessee. He is a passionate scholar who also has the rare talent of bringing the fundamental precepts of anthropology to broad audiences, engendering their interest and fascination with the land and its people. As mentor, he has created a shared learning experience with his students, which has encouraged their professional identities in anthropology. Graduates of MTSU's Anthropology program, which Smith founded, are taking their learning forward to some of the most prestigious graduate schools in the country and delving into archeological sites around the globe.

A native of Hardin County, Tennessee, Smith completed his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. in Anthropology at Vanderbilt University. In 1994, he joined the faculty at Middle Tennessee State University, where he currently serves as professor and director of Anthropology.

Smith's research interests lie in the archaeology of the southeastern United States, with special interests in the late prehistoric Native American cultures of middle Tennessee, the frontier period of Tennessee, and the archaeology of African-American life from slavery through Reconstruction. Asked to describe this eclectic mix of research interests, he notes, "My focal interests are in examining how different people have interacted with the Tennessee landscape and each other over the past thousand years."

Smith is co-author of the monograph Speaking with the Ancestors: Mississippian Stone Statuary of the Tennessee-Cumberland Style and nine other book-length monographs and extended technical reports, including most recently, Archaeological Excavations at the Rutherford-Kizer Site: A Mississippian Mound Center in Sumner County, Tennessee. He has published over 40 articles in professional journals such as Tennessee Archaeology, Southeastern Archaeology, Tennessee Historical Quarterly, and Tennessee Anthropologist, as well as authored peer-reviewed National Register nominations and publicly accessible monographs and newsletter articles. Smith also has contributed to over 60 presentations at professional conferences, invited lectures at universities and museums, and to nonprofit organizations and clubs. Smith has organized or chaired over 20 national, regional, and state conferences and symposia.

Smith has conducted significant archival and collections research in his areas of expertise for the National Museum of the American Indian, Smithsonian Institution; Cornell University, Division of Rare and Manuscript Collections; the Robert S. Peabody Museum, Andover, Massachusetts; and the Tennessee State Museum, among others. He has served as guest curator with R.V. Sharp for the Ancestors: Ancient Native American Stone Sculpture of Tennessee exhibit at the Tennessee State Museum.

Smith has been instrumental in developing curricula that have given impetus for the growing and widely recognized Anthropology program at MTSU. He has taught over 30 different courses in the program over the past 20 years, many of which he developed. Always the mentor, Smith engages students in the process of research by serving as director or reader in the past five years alone for more than 15 undergraduate senior and Honors theses, master's theses, and dissertations at MTSU and three other universities. He is also a member of the MTSU Honors faculty.

Morning Speaker

Saturday, May 5, 2018

Stephen B. Smith
Chair, MTSU Board of Trustees and Chair, Haury & Smith Contractors

Mr. Stephen B. Smith is chair of Haury & Smith Contractors, Inc., a 60 year-old building and development company. He is active in the community, having served on the Metropolitan Nashville Planning Commission and Regional Transit Authority and was chair of the Metropolitan Nashville Parks and Recreation Board of Directors. He was on the boards of Franklin Road Academy, National Multiple Sclerosis (MS) Society Mid-South Chapter, and Federal Home Loan Bank of Cincinnati. Smith currently sits on the board of directors for both CapStar Bank and the Williamson County Sports Authority. He received the MS Society's Hope Award in 2007 and is a member of the Society of International Business Fellows.

Smith is a graduate of Middle Tennessee State University, where he is the chair of the Board of Trustees. He chaired the search committee for MTSU's athletic director and spearheaded the successful effort to raise $5 million to construct a new baseball facility. Smith was inducted into the Blue Raider Sports Hall of Fame in 2004, received the Tennessee Board of Regents' Chancellor's Citation for Excellence in Philanthropy in 2008, was awarded the Jennings A. Jones Champion of Free Enterprise Award from the MTSU Jones College of Business in 2010, and was the 2013–14 recipient of the Distinguished Alumni Award for Service to the University.

Additionally, Smith is a five-term president of the Tennessee Walking Horse Breeders and Exhibitors Association, served on the Walking Horse National Celebration Advisory Board, and was chair of the National Horse Show Commission. He won 10 World Championships as a rider, including the 1992 Amateur World Grand Champion, and was inducted into the Tennessee Walking Horse Hall of Fame in 2001.

Smith also served as national finance co-chair for Sen. Lamar Alexander's presidential campaigns in 1996 and 2000 and achieved "Super Ranger" status (one of only three in Tennessee) in President George W. Bush's 2004 campaign. He was national finance chair for Senate Majority Leader Bill Frist's leadership political action committee, VOLPAC; served as finance chair for Alexander's 2008 and 2014 U.S. Senate re-election campaigns; and is currently the finance chair for Alexander's leadership political action committee, TENNPAC. Smith served as finance leadership for Gov. Bill Haslam's election and re-election, and he is now finance chair for the Randy Boyd for Governor campaign in Tennessee.

He and Denise, his wife of more than 30 years, have two sons, Stephen Jr., Princeton Class of 2005, and Matthew, Princeton Class of 2008. Smith is an avid outdoorsman and gentleman farmer, raising horses and cattle.

He has earned the Combat Infantryman Badge and the Joint Chiefs of Staff Identification Badge, and is Airborne, Air Assault, and Ranger qualified.

Caslen is married, with three adult children and four grandchildren.

Mace and Chain of Office

Originally a medieval knight's weapon, the mace evolved into a symbol of royal scepters in various crown jewel collections. Large versions of the scepter have come to represent the power and authority of institutions such as our University. The mace measures 50 inches in length and is made of Tennessee cherry wood embellished with sterling silver and lapis lazuli. The Tennessee flower, the iris, denotes the public the University serves who, by their loyalty, give it strength and power. The leaves form a crown to symbolize the ennobling achievements of our graduates. Tennessee freshwater pearls, the official state gem, suggest the inestimable value of inquiring minds. The streamer on the wood shaft carries the names by which the University has been known since its founding. The finial at the base of the mace is a stylized nut, representing the core, the seed from which springs the mighty tree of those committed to lifelong learning.

The chain of office worn by the president is made of sterling silver. The lapis lazuli gems, mounted on scroll shapes, represent the colleges within the University. The knotted components depict the interdependence of knowledge and the various academic programs of MTSU. The lapis lazuli and sterling represent the University colors of blue and white. The Great Seal of the State of Tennessee embellishes the medallion suspended from the chain and represents the University as a state institution of higher learning.

These unique emblems of authority were designed and crafted by Professor Klaus Kallenberger, formerly of the Art Department. The mace and chain of office are a generous gift to the University from the MTSU Foundation.

MACE BEARER

Friday, May 4, 2018

Dr. Janet K. McCormick earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in Speech Communication from Eastern Illinois University ('87, '88) and her Ph.D. in Communication from Southern Illinois University ('95). She taught at Spalding University in Louisville, Kentucky, before spending seven years teaching abroad in London, Buenos Aires, and Singapore. McCormick joined MTSU in 2002 as an intercultural communication specialist and is a recipient of the Outstanding Teacher Award (twice), Outstanding Faculty Mentor Award, Outstanding Academic Advisor Award, Outstanding EXL Faculty Award (twice), and Distinguished Educator in Distance Learning Award for her work within the Organizational Communication program at MTSU.

McCormick conducts communication seminars and workshops regularly on such subjects as intercultural communication, gender and communication, interviewing skills, leadership skills, and group dynamics. She recently presented her "High Impact Teaching Strategies for Capstone Courses" in California and will present "Powerful Listening Skills" in Dublin, Ireland this summer.

McCormick is internationally recognized as inaugural chair of the Global Communication Certification Council launched by IABC (International Association of Business Communicators) in 2013 and received the Rae Hamlin International Leadership in Service Award for these efforts in 2016. She is co-founder of the MTSU Institute of Experiential Learning and is active in numerous professional organizations, including the International Leadership Association, IABC, Academy of Management, International Communication Association, National Communication Association, Tennessee Communication Association (recent past president), National Society for Experiential Education, American Association of University Women, and Business and Professional Women.

MACE BEARERS

Saturday, May 5, 2018

Morning

Dr. Timothy R. Graeff is professor of Marketing in the Jones College of Business and joined the MTSU faculty in 1992. He received his Ph.D. in Marketing from Pennsylvania State University and his B.S. and M.B.A. from Florida State University.

Graeff is a former academic fellow of the Learning, Teaching, and Innovative Technologies Center (LT&ITC) at MTSU, as well as current chair of the MTSU Teaching Mentoring Program. He also serves as director of the Office of Consumer Research in the Jones College, where he oversees two major surveys. The Tennessee Consumer Outlook Index is a quarterly online survey of Tennessee residents measuring consumers' confidence in the economy. The Tennessee Business Barometer is a quarterly survey of Tennessee business leaders in partnership with the Tennessee Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Graeff also serves on the editorial review board for Psychology & Marketing and Marketing Education

Review. In addition to having published numerous articles in marketing- and education-related journals, he is a regular presenter at national and international marketing conferences. His marketing research textbook published by Kendall Hunt Publishers, Marketing Research for Managerial Decision Making: Data Analytics Using Microsoft Excel (2016), is in its sixth edition.

Last fall, Graeff received the MTSU Outstanding Teacher Award. This was his third time to win the award (1999, 2009). He received the Jones College's E.W. "Wink" Midgett Distinguished Teaching Award in 2016 and was named a Fellow of the Marketing Management Association (MMA) in 2015. Graeff also previously received the MTSU Outstanding Public Service Award (2002, 2011), MTSU Distinguished Researcher Award (2001), Jones College's Outstanding Faculty Award (2003, 2008), State Farm Excellence Professorship (2006), and the MMA's Hormel Master Marketing Teacher Award (2005).

Afternoon

Dr. Seth J. Marshall earned his Ph.D. and M.A. in School/Educational Psychology from Arizona State University. He received a B.A. in Psychology from the University of Utah. Marshall joined the Psychology faculty at MTSU in 2010.

Marshall teaches a variety of undergraduate and graduate courses, including Developmental Psychology, General Psychology, Interventions for Children and Adolescents, School-Based Mental Health Services, and Neuropsychology. His current research interests pertain to executive functioning—or how we regulate our actions, thoughts, and emotions. Some of his research pertains to how these neuropsychological skills are associated with health and wellness variables, such as sleep, interpersonal relationships, food intake, physical activity, and positive and negative childhood experiences.

Additionally, Marshall practices as a licensed psychologist and a nationally certified school psychologist. Prior to joining MTSU, he taught and provided psychological services at the Culver Academies in Indiana. Marshall also worked as a psychologist in the Houston Independent School District in Texas.

Academic Regalia

The black gowns and colorful hoods traditionally worn at Middle Tennessee State University commencement ceremonies have their origins in the Middle Ages.

A statute in England in 1321 required that all “Doctors, Licentiates, and Bachelors” wear gowns. In the second half of the 14th century, the statutes of certain colleges forbade “excess in apparel” and prescribed the wearing of a long gown. Scholars were often clerics as well, and they adopted costumes similar to those of monastic orders. While the special attire covered rank or social status, thus lending a uniform look to ceremonies, it also served another purpose: warmth in drafty, unheated buildings.

As universities began to pass from the control of the church, colors often were added to the somber robes and hoods, eventually signifying the degree and specialization.

The cut of the gown, which is usually black, also varies with the degree held—pointed sleeves for the bachelor’s degree; long, closed sleeves with a slit in the arm for the master’s degree; and round, open sleeves for the doctoral degree. While the bachelor’s and master’s gowns have no ornamentation, the doctoral gown is faced down the front with velvet and has three velvet bars across the sleeves.

At Middle Tennessee, hoods are worn by holders of the master’s and doctor’s degrees, with the latter being longer. Hoods are lined with the official colors of the university that confers the degree; thus, holders of degrees from MTSU wear hoods lined in blue and white. The velvet edging on the hood, and often the velvet edging on the gown, represents the candidate’s major academic field. Often holders of the Doctor of Philosophy degree (Ph.D.) will be seen with hoods in dark blue instead of a color symbolic of their discipline. This is accepted academic dress. Further, the velvet bars on the sleeves may be the same color as the discipline color of the hood, or may be black. Colors associated with various subjects follow:

Agriculture - Maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities - White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business - Drab
Criminal Justice - Midnight Blue
Economics - Copper
Education - Light Blue
Fine Arts - Brown

Home Economics - Maroon
Journalism - Crimson
Law - Purple
Library Science - Lemon
Music - Pink
Nursing - Apricot
Oratory (Speech) - Silver Gray
Philosophy - Dark Blue
Physical Education - Sage Green
Science - Golden Yellow
Social Work - Citrine

The black cap, the mortarboard, is customarily worn. There is no general rule for the position of the tassel. In practice at Middle Tennessee State University, the tassel is worn on the right. It may be shifted to the left after the degree is awarded. Men may remove their caps during prayer, the playing of the alma mater, and during the commencement address.

Undergraduate honors graduates are distinguished by the stoles added to their gowns: gold for those graduating summa cum laude, 3.90 to 4.0 (overall grade point average); silver for magna cum laude, 3.75 to 3.89; and white for cum laude, 3.50 to 3.74. Graduates with University Honors wear blue and white cords and have completed at least 31 hours with a 3.25 average in the Honors program, a curriculum of special classes designed for superior students. Those who have maintained a minimum average of 3.65 in the Honors program are graduating with Distinction in University Honors. Undergraduate honors graduates and persons graduating with University Honors, along with those who have been commissioned second lieutenant in the United States Army, are listed in this program after the degree recipients.

Some academic honor societies and programs may provide cords, ribbons, medallions, or lapel pins designating the achievement and involvement of their members.

Since 1993, graduates of the University Honors College have received the official Honors medallion in recognition of their final thesis defense and completion of special requirements of the college. The medallion itself is a replica of the official seal of the University Honors College and depicts a lighted torch, three Ionic columns, and a lightning bolt. Respectively, these symbolize the search for truth and knowledge, the stability and unwavering commitment to pursuing knowledge, and the flash of enlightenment or creative energy.

Military veteran students are distinguished by specially designed red stoles and red, white, and blue cords in recognition of their admirable service to their country.

Experiential Learning Scholars are distinguished by blue, silver, and white cords. These scholars completed EXL-designated hands-on learning courses, an off-campus service activity, an on-campus service activity, and a portfolio of reflections on their EXL activities. The EXL program provides students with opportunities for hands-on experience, valuable networking, and an opportunity to explore career paths through real-world experience.

International students may wear colorful sashes that are representative of their country of origin. Each sash symbolizes, in color and design, their country's flag.

Most American colleges and universities have adopted a uniform code. However, at any academic gathering, costumes often are worn that are not described by these guidelines. Some of these may be from foreign universities, others from American institutions that have preferred to remain with the European tradition of allowing each school to determine its own costume. Silver medallions worn by faculty denote 15 years of service, and gold medallions represent 25 years.

Academic Banners

The banners carried and displayed at commencement represent the University: its nine colleges (Basic and Applied Sciences, Behavioral and Health Sciences, Business, Education, Liberal Arts, Media and Entertainment, Graduate Studies, University College, and University Honors); Walker Library; and Faculty Senate. The design and execution of the banners was a collaborative effort among Professor Janet Higgins, Art Department; her student Kristi Baughman; and Darrell Callis Burks, designer in Creative and Visual Services and 2000 B.F.A. graduate. The colors used in each banner represent disciplines within the colleges. The University seal centers each banner, symbolizing that the whole is greater than any of its parts.

BANNER CARRIER Friday, May 4, 2018

College of Graduate Studies

Dr. Robert Petersen is a professor in the Department of English and has been a member of the MTSU faculty since 1984. He has degrees in English from the State University of New York at Albany (B.A.) and Purdue University (M.A. and Ph.D.). Petersen has taught at the University of Southern Mississippi and Niigata University in Japan, and from 1980 to 1982, he was a research fellow in rhetoric and linguistics at the University of Kansas. Petersen teaches the full range of courses in his department, from freshman composition to English 3000 Introduction to Literary Studies to graduate courses in 20th-century British literature. He has served as director of lower-division English and as the departmental coordinator of teaching schedules. A member of the Modern Language Association for over 50 years, Petersen has made more than 70 presentations at professional meetings dealing with Japanese literature, rhetoric and composition, and writers as varied as Lewis Carroll, Evelyn Scott, W. B. Yeats, and Kyoko Mori. He has publications in the areas of Victorian literature, historical fiction, and modernist poetry; writes an occasional poem, most recently publishing online in MAYDAY Magazine; and does volunteer work with the American Red Cross.

BANNER CARRIERS Saturday, May 5, 2018

College of Basic and Applied Sciences

Dr. John DuBois earned a B.S. in Biology from Baldwin-Wallace College and M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in Botany from Miami University in Ohio. He held a postdoctoral fellowship in Biochemistry at the University of Wisconsin and has been a professor in MTSU's Department of Biology for 29 years. Before joining the department, he was an assistant professor at Albion College in Michigan. DuBois is the author of over 20 research articles and one textbook. His current research is in plant tissue culture and biotechnology. DuBois and his research team are investigating methods to enhance the propagation of the wine grape vitis aestivalis and enhancing cannabinoid production in industrial hemp (cannabis sativa) plants and tissue callus. He is a member of the graduate faculty and the Honors College faculty.

College of Behavioral and Health Sciences

Dr. Michelle Boyer-Pennington, a professor of Psychology at MTSU, currently serves as the department's coordinator of undergraduate programs and is chair of the URECA committee. She routinely teaches courses that are part of the EXL and MT Engage programs and regularly mentors Honors theses. Boyer-Pennington earned a Ph.D. and M.S. in Developmental Psychology from the University of Florida and a B.A. in Psychology from Emory University. She has published in the journals Child Development and Journal of Experimental Child Development. In May, she will present her findings from an EXL course project at the meeting of the Association for Psychological Science in San Francisco.

Jennings A. Jones College of Business

Dr. Michele Medina received her doctorate from the University of North Texas in the area of organizational behavior. Her research interests include bystanders of co-worker bullying, leadership, justice, identity, and teams. Medina has presented her research at the Academy of Management, the Society for Industrial and Organizational Psychology, and the Southern Management Association. At MTSU, she teaches both undergraduate and graduate students in the areas of leadership, principles of management, and negotiations.

College of Education

Dr. Alicia Pence is an assistant professor in the Department of Elementary and Special Education at MTSU. Her research interests focus on the areas of inclusive extracurricular activity participation of students with disabilities and the use of service-learning pedagogy in teacher preparation. Pence's current research involves investigating the participation of students with disabilities in extracurricular school clubs. In addition to teaching courses related to the Interventionist concentrations, Pence supervises Residency I students and teaches courses related to the Interventionist program. Prior to MTSU, she taught middle school special education in Kentucky for eight years, where she served as a resource teacher, co-teacher, and Response to Intervention math specialist. Ultimately, Pence endeavors to prepare dynamic special education teachers while maintaining strong advocacy efforts for individuals with disabilities.

Faculty Senate

Dr. Joey Gray is an associate professor and program director of Leisure, Sport, and Tourism Studies in the Department of Health and Human Performance. She earned her Ph.D. in Leisure Behavior from Indiana University; her master's degree in Parks, Recreation, and Tourism Management from North Carolina State University; and her bachelor's degree from Averett University. A faculty member at MTSU since 2006, she focuses her research primarily on pedagogy in Leisure Studies and gender issues in Leisure. Active in the MTSU community, she is the current president of the Faculty Senate and serves as a member of the Honors faculty, graduate faculty, and EXL and MT Engage programs. Gray says the most rewarding part of teaching is to have a student say that she has made a difference in their life. Among her students, she is well known for her sense of humor, accessibility, and active mentorship. Gray's most prized honor to date is the MTSU Outstanding Teaching Award she received in 2017. While at Indiana University, Gray also received the Trustees' Teaching Award.

College of Liberal Arts

Dr. Rebekka King is an assistant professor in the Department of Philosophy and Religious Studies. She holds a Ph.D. from the University of Toronto and teaches courses on religion and public life, global Christianity, perceptions of Jesus, women and gender studies, and ethnographic methods. Her research and publications focus on religious hybridity within contemporary North American Christianity. King was recently elected vice president of the North American Association for the Study of Religion and serves as co-chair of the American Academy of Religion's Sociology of Religion program unit. She is an editor for Critical Research on Religion and a fellow of the Center for Critical Research on Religion in Boston. At MTSU, she is currently director of the new Religious Studies B.A./B.S. program and was awarded the 2016–17 Outstanding Teaching Award.

College of Media and Entertainment

Mr. Robert Gordon, an assistant professor, earned his B.F.A. in Broadcasting and M.B.A. in Marketing from the University of Cincinnati. He has been teaching multi-camera television program production at MTSU for the past 11 years. Gordon also has been a national television producer for many years on a wide range of entertainment programming for Cinemax, PBS, CMT, TNN, GMC, The Family Channel, syndication, and home video. At MTSU, he teaches live-event TV program production, such as sporting events, televised concerts, newscasts, and award shows. His MTSU students produce live, 10-camera games for ESP3 and BeIN sports and have produced TV concerts for Bonnaroo, the Nashville Symphony, Capitol Records, and professional acts at the Franklin Theater. Gordon is faculty advisor for the student-run MT10 TV station and executive producer for Media Arts Productions. Additionally, he directs The Songwriters, a new student-staffed PBS interview/performance TV series, for the Nashville Songwriters Hall of Fame and MTSU. The show has won three international awards and is seen on PBS stations in 53 markets across the country. Gordon also has produced and directed a series of 4k, 360-degree music videos for multi-Grammy winner Mark O'Connor. He has been invited to teach as exchange faculty at the University of Salford Media City in England and has been recommended by the Council for International Exchange of Scholars for a Fulbright Award to teach in spring 2019 at the Baltic Film, Media, Arts, and Communication School at Tallinn University in Estonia.

University Honors College

Dr. Keith Jacks Gamble earned his Ph.D. in Economics from the University of California–Berkeley and his bachelor's in Economics from Harvard. His research interests include financial decisions and behavioral finance. Gamble has published his research in Management Science, Journal of Financial Markets, and Financial Management, among others. He has presented his research at international conferences, such as the European Finance Association Annual Meetings and the Netspar International Pension Workshop.

University College

Dr. Lawanna S. Fisher is a professor in the University Studies Department, teaching Mathematics courses. She earned her Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees in Mathematics from Middle Tennessee

State University and her Ed.D. in Curriculum and Instruction from Tennessee State University. Fisher was a recipient of the MTSU Outstanding Teacher Award and has been named Educator of the Year by the Tennessee Association for Developmental Education. She has received the MTSU Distinguished Educator in Distance Learning Award and has been recognized by MTSU for her outstanding achievement in instructional technology. Fisher teaches both traditional classes and online classes. Her research agenda focuses in the area of the scholarship of teaching and learning. She has co-authored multiple articles in refereed journals and has presented at numerous state and national conferences. Fisher is also actively involved on campus, where she has served as a member of the MTSU Faculty Senate and has represented her department and college on numerous committees. Additionally, she has served as a faculty advisor for a student organization.

James E. Walker Library

Ms. Christy Groves, who holds an M.S. in Library Science, is department chair of User Services and associate professor at MTSU's James E. Walker Library. For more than 20 years, she has been directly involved with recruitment, supervision, and development of library faculty and staff. Groves has headed excellence and outreach initiatives for a number of services. She is committed to embracing trends and technologies germane to sustainability and relevance in libraries.

Alma Mater

words and music by Charles Douglas Williams (B.M. '54)

We sing thy prai - ses faith - ful guide of youth;

The first system of musical notation for the song 'Alma Mater'. It consists of a grand staff with a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. The key signature has one flat (B-flat) and the time signature is 4/4. The melody is written in the treble clef, and the accompaniment is in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'We sing thy prai - ses faith - ful guide of youth;'.

Through all the a - ges af - firmed and strong in truth.

The second system of musical notation. The melody continues in the treble clef, and the accompaniment continues in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'Through all the a - ges af - firmed and strong in truth.'.

Al - ma Ma - ter Mid - dle Ten - nes - see

The third system of musical notation. The melody continues in the treble clef, and the accompaniment continues in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'Al - ma Ma - ter Mid - dle Ten - nes - see'.

We proud - ly of - fer our hearts in loy - al - ty.

The fourth and final system of musical notation. The melody concludes in the treble clef, and the accompaniment concludes in the bass clef. The lyrics are: 'We proud - ly of - fer our hearts in loy - al - ty.'.
