SURVIVING:

R.Kelly, Weinstein, and the #MeToo Movement

October 2, 5-7:30pm, LRC 221 Auditorium

Have you heard about or watched the “Surviving R. Kelly” Lifetime documentary? Or maybe you heard about the abuses by other prominent celebs, such as Harvey Weinstein and Robin Thicke. #MeToo has helped shed light on experiences of victims of gender-based violence, and why it can take so long for survivors to speak out. However, gender-based violence and sexual violence is a widespread social problem that affects every community and affects people of all genders, sexual orientations, ages, religions, etc. Join us to discuss experiences of women of color, men as victims of sexual violence, and of survivors who self-identify as LGBTQ.

 Food will be provided at the event for the first 150 students!!

MTSU Engaging Men Committee, School of Journalism & Strategic Media, Bing Nan Li Production
Departments of Social Work, Communication Studies, & Women & Gender Studies,