

The Lawn Chair Philosophy Foundation's mission is as follows: "our mission here at The Lawn Chair Philosophy Foundation is to partner with professional philosophers, progressive universities, and compassionate community leaders to make academic philosophy more accessible. We seek to ensure that no matter a person's cultural or socio-economic background, rigorous academic study of one's self and situation remains a viable and attractive possibility for those who might find its labor fruitful."

From February 14th to April 1st, The Lawn Chair Philosophy Foundation's Emerging Scholars Program is accepting undergraduate paper abstracts for its Applied Deontological Ethics Mini-Conference, "Evaluating Political Systems and Leaders." The Mini-Conference will be held virtually on June 10th, 2023 at 2 PM EST and will include a special guest lecture from Dr. Avery Goldman of DePaul University. Abstracts should be submitted as PDFs and range between 150 and 300 words. Abstracts should be free of any identifying information, such as the author's name or home institution. Please email abstracts to submissions@lcpfoundation.org. In the body of the email submission, include the author's full name, home institution, and paper title.

Any potential abstracts should be focused on the potential application of deontological ethics to political systems and leaders, and can address any deontological theory or political system of the author's choosing.
