Biographical Sketch:
Les Haney, was born in Butler County, Kentucky in 1914. His musical career started in 1932 with a spot on radio after winning a contest in Evansville, Indiana. After forming the Tennessee Tomcats, Haney formed (1934) the Musketeers which included young Merle Travis. His talents secured him spots on various radio shows (e.g., WLBJ Bowling Green, KY) and brought him offers with Bill and Charlie Monroe and in New York, but his ultimate career in the aircraft industry and a stable family life anchored him in Nashville and then Butler County. He now paints pictures.

One (1) reel-to-reel audio tape transfer (.25 hours) of a 16" audiodisc, recorded probably from WLBJ, Bowling Green, Kentucky, January 6, 1948, documenting a radio show featuring some of his songs and comedy routines.

Of the 45 photo images (on negative and contact sheet), nine (9) are on-site images taken of Mr. Haney talking or playing his guitar. The rest are various copy exposures of eight (8) different photos that Mr. Haney possessed of himself in earlier bands. A couple of these pictures include Merle Travis.
